
Linux - Lab 12

Basic Shell Commands - Absolute and Relative Path

#login as ec2-user to complete the commands

#check the current working directory

`pwd`

#list the files and directories in the current working directory

`ls`

#change the working directory to /var using absolute path

`cd /var`

#again check the current working directory

`pwd`

#list the files and directories in the current working directory

`ls`

#change the working directory to log directory (one step forward)
using relative path

cd log

#again check the current working directory

pwd

#list the files and directories in the current working directory

ls

#change the working directory to the parent directory (one step back) using relative path cd ..

#again check the current working directory

pwd

#change the working directory to /var/lib using relative path from /var/log

cd ../lib
